We love that you love this newsletter. We really do! It’s a great way to get important information about what’s happening at the library, and gives a snapshot of the activities we have planned for the month. Here’s the problem with print, though. It’s not always up-to-date.

The library is busy, and things change every day - including the capacity of our events. Here’s an example. We might advertise on the calendar in this newsletter that the library is holding a family painting class on November 4 (actually, we are). We might tell you there are a few spots left, because at the time we print, there are. However, a few days - even a few hours - after we print, the event might fill. You’ve lost your chance to attend, and you didn’t even know about it! Our December family painting event may even be full before you have a chance to read this.

Even social media isn’t foolproof. We can sometimes be delayed updating a post, or, an updated post might not come across your NewsFeed (thanks, Facebook algorithms) or be buried in your Twitter Feed.

So how do you make sure you are the first to know what is happening at the Kendallville Public Library and its Limberlost Branch? Our website! The website at www.kendallvillelibrary.org includes a handy online event calendar. That is THE most up-to-date place to find information about our planned events. Here’s why:

The first step in our marketing process is to publish events to the online calendar. The second we do that, it’s posted online and you can see it. The rest of the marketing process, well, that takes more time. Creating flyers, drafting the newsletter, getting information to schools, planning social media posts, sending text messages and emails, etc., all takes time.

So here’s what we suggest: Bookmark our online calendar on your web browser. Check it often. You can even subscribe to specific event types, and receive email notifications of upcoming events. Just click on an event that you’re interested in, then click “Notify Me” at the top of the window. Fill in your information, and you’re ready to go!

If we require registration for an event, you can usually do that right online. Often, when there is a charge to attend an adult event, you can even pay right away via PayPal (you don’t need a PayPal account). We try to make it as convenient as possible for you to find out what you want to know. And be sure to check out our website in general. It’s full of great information about the libraries, much of which we can’t fit into this 12 page newsletter.
Cortex Challenge: 3D Design
Projects due by November 30

The Cortex crew has issued a challenge to all the makers out there...design and create the best 3D model! Using whatever 3D program you choose (we recommend Thingiverse, SketchUp, Tinkercad or Blender), design your own 3D model from scratch, and print it using our 3D Printer. Design from scratch means that you start with a blank slate, and build it on your own - you can’t take a design someone has already developed and alter it. Design and print your model, then have a staff member snap a photo of it. The contest runs October 1 through November 30. Then, photos of the models will be on display for voting from December 1 through December 15. The winner in each age group (8-15 and 16 and up) will win 100 grams of 3D printing in the color of their choice (to use all at once or on multiple projects as needed). What are you waiting for? Start designing! Oh, and all Cortex policies apply. Go to www.kendallvillelibrary.org or pick up a brochure at the library for all the details.

Great News!
The library earned more than $500 this quarter in Kroger Community Rewards!

Our thanks to all of the families who have signed up for Kroger Community Rewards, and designated the Kendallville Public Library as the recipient. The library will soon receive a check for $528.00, the earnings for the third quarter of 2015. The library joined the Community Rewards program over the summer, and shoppers have helped us raise more than $700 to date.

Here’s how you can help, if you’re not already registered and shop at Kroger:

• Go online to www.kroger.com/communityrewards, and sign in or create an account.
• Link your Plus Card to the Kendallville Public Library (can be searched by name or found by entering code 59848).
• Use your Kroger Plus Card each time you shop! The Kendallville Public Library will receive a quarterly donation, based on your spending. That’s all there is to it!

The library uses donations like these to support our programs and services for all ages.

Have a Merry Cortex Christmas
A MakerSpace Gift Giving Guide

The Cortex is a great place to try new things...but why not let the space help you with your gift-giving, as well?

Here are some fun ideas for gifts that you can make in The Cortex, with our tools and some inexpensive supplies of your own:

• Carve a keepsake with the Dremel.
• Cut some wall art with the Cricut.
• Create dollhouse furniture on the 3D Printer.
• Customize a shirt, jacket or other clothing item with the embroidery machine.
• Craft a quilt, placemats and more with the sewing machine.

These are just a few of the ideas we have - but the great thing about the Cortex is that it’s designed to bring out the creativity in you! What will you make?

Duck, Duck, Moose!
By Sudipta Bardhan-Quallen and Noah Z. Jones

Duck, Duck, Moose! is the fun and silly tale of a pair of ducks and their clumsy, but lovable, moose friend. Moose causes chaos wherever he goes, whether he’s running straight through walls or knocking over his friends’ artwork. After a day of disasters, Moose decides to run away. Can his friends convince him that they love him in spite of his clumsiness?

This is a funny, madcap story that will have readers giggling from the first page, which features an oblivious Moose wearing underpants on his head. The story is told largely through pictures, making this a great choice for younger children who are learning to read independently.

Bang! Boom! Roar!: A Busy Crew of Dinosaurs
By Nate Evans, Stephanie Gwyn Brown, and Christopher Santoro

Bang! Boom! Roar! is not your typical alphabet book. It opens with RRRUMBLE-ROARRR!, as a team of hard-working dinosaurs start a new construction project. Each page highlights a different letter of the alphabet by using as many words starting with that letter as possible, and the whole story is told in rhyming couplets. This leads to some tongue twisters that are extra fun to read aloud, like “Forklifts beeping, shifting freight. For fitting crates, this fleet’s first rate.”

The illustrations are as fun and fast-paced as the text. There is action and movement on each page, and there are so many small details that you’re likely to notice something new with each read. This is a definite must-read for fans of dinosaurs, construction, and big machines.

App Corner: Cooking for Kids

Some of our most popular apps on the children’s iPads are cooking apps. Kids can chop, slice, and sauté to make crazy dishes and creative concoctions.

Toca Kitchen Monsters (Toca Boca AB, Free)
These hairy, scary monsters are very, very hungry and very, very picky about their food. Can you cook them up some delicious dishes? Just don’t feed them something they don’t like...

Dr. Panda’s Restaurant 2 (Dr. Panda Ltd, $2.99 currently)
Dr. Panda’s kitchen is open, and he’s ready to teach you all the skills you need to make delicious meals. Cook pasta, cut veggies for salads, and make sushi rolls to feed hungry restaurant customers.

All apps were free at the time of download, though prices do change. A great resource for catching deals is appsliced.co (yes, this is .co, not .com). You can find out which apps have gone on sale or are currently free to download.

New Star Wars Books

Four new Star Wars books are available for checkout in the Teen Department in preparation for the movie release in December. The first three are retellings of the original trilogy, A New Hope, The Empire Strikes Back, and Return of the Jedi. The Empire Strikes Back is written by the one and only Adam Gidwitz, who just so happened to visit the library in January to kick off the Kleiman Creative Writing Contest. The fourth book is Lost Stars by Claudia Gray. This book gives details of events from after Return of the Jedi and includes hints about the upcoming blockbuster, The Force Awakens. These books are absolute must reads for all Star Wars fans.

Readers of science fiction and other Star Wars novels will enjoy this collection.

The Motherless Oven
By Rob Davis

In this deeply bizarre graphic novel, parents don’t create children...it’s the other way around. And parents aren’t human, they’re machines put together by human children. Scarper’s dad is a wind-powered brass contraption with a swirling sail. His mom is a plastic hairdryer. Also, in this dimension, it rains knives and appliances have souls. To top it all off, there are no birthdays, only deathdays. Scarper’s deathday is just three weeks away when his father is kidnapped. Scarper goes on a journey with two of his friends to save his father, but this world is filled with danger around every turn. Will Scarper even survive until his deathday?

Readers of literary graphic novels should enjoy this tale.
